

Hiking the Everest Base Camp Trail

Hi! Thank you for your interest in my ghostwriting services. I am looking forward to working together to write your book. I take your story from creation to publication. Here are a few questions clients have about ghostwriting and my process. Let me know if I can answer any other questions you have. I'm here to make this easy, fun and inspirational for you. Like climbing a mountain, the process is easy and enjoyable when you take it one step at a time! Please give me a call at 831-521-8933 to schedule your discovery call or email me at elliwrite \(at\) yahoo \(dot\) com.

Why do I need a ghostwriter?

I work with lots of people who have had their story on their mind for a very long time. Like most of my clients, you are probably having trouble sorting out your thoughts and maybe getting all your paperwork organized. Maybe you have even tried to write your story before but you can't find a way into the story or you haven't been able to write to the end. Maybe you don't like paperwork and are interested in "talking your book." There are many ways for us to get your story down on paper. Don't be overwhelmed any longer. I'm here to save you time and organize your research so we can write your book together.

Who gets the author credit?

You do. There will be no mention of me as ghostwriter unless you would like me to have a "with" credit.

How long does the whole process take?

This varies from book to book. Most projects that I work on take three months to complete. Payments are made monthly.

How does this work?

Once we talk about your project, I set up an editorial calendar of deliverables. Each week I submit new material to you and we talk about the submissions on weekly calls. During these calls you might begin to make new connections and think of ideas, insights and memories that you never have before. This is the gold of our collaborative process because these rich details hold the key to the heart of your story and make the narrative even stronger.

What about revisions?

I revise as we go so when our work together is finished you will have a manuscript that is ready to publish however you like.

Do you write book proposals?

Yes, I have received great results with my non-fiction book proposals. One of my proposals got my client an agent within an hour of submission! I look forward to helping you find the right fit with the right agent or publishing house.

What about self-publishing?

If you are interested in self-publishing, I can advise you on the process as I have personally self-published before and helped others self-publish their novels too.

Testimonials :

“I had fun working with Laura as a team. As a writer, she got the pulse of what I needed to deliver creatively and she worked through the changes required, adding in her creative thoughts and going the extra mile with her ideas and suggestions. Thanks, Laura!”

“Amazing experience... Laura is the perfect someone which every writer needs. She is punctual, professional, honest, creative and perfectionist! I will definitely work with her anything I might be doing.”

“Laura was phenomenal to work with. She was professional yet very open and personable from our first communication. She has a wonderful creative energy that drew me to her style and personality right away. This was a new and extremely foreign experience for me and she was nothing but patient and informative. We worked extremely well together and developed a communication and objective outline right away. Our mindset of planning and organizing everything was cohesive. I would highly recommend Laura for any writing projects.

I had an amazing experience with Laura.”

“It was a pleasure working with Laura. She provided professional insight into my project and was always objective. I was able to turn an average manuscript into a polished, ready-to-publish, manuscript. Laura connected to the story and brought breath to the scenes in a vibrant manner. She provided feedback and criticism that was necessary to improve the story without being pushy or abrasive. I would recommend anyone who is in need of a good writer with a fast turn around to work with Laura. She will not disappoint.”

*“Wow! Laura wrote the story even better than I envisioned it following just a brief explanation of what I need.
Talent, skills and experience!”*

“Laura is great to work with! She listens is patient, and is an awesome writer. I have already referred her to my friend.”

Adventure is always a good thing.
I look forward to joining you on this adventure!
